1. The Jugopromet textile factory in Kranj is located along the Sava River. The road leading to the factory branches off from the main Ljubljana-Kranj highway and is known as the Savski Breg. The factory is served by a railroad siding which forks off from the main railroad to Jesenice.
2. The factory employs approximately three thousand workers. Work in the weaving mill is done in two shifts, while work in the spinning mill is done in three shifts. The factory is supplied with raw materials from the Slovene state warehouse. It uses a new textile woodpulp (raw material) called Bombus and some raw material imported. The factory produces largely shirt goods and silks for women's dresses.
3. The factory is supplied by electric and thermo-electric power which is obtained from the Velenje power station and, to some extent, from the electric power station in Kranj.
